

Another General Auditing Commission (GAC) Staff Passes CISA Exam

IT Auditor, Ms. Yamaha L. Bowah

A staff of the Information Technology Audit and Assurance Section of the General Auditing Commission (GAC), Ms. Yamaha L. Bowah, has become the second employee of the Commission in less than two months to pass the Certified Information Systems Auditor (CISA) Exams.

In the ‘NOTICE OF EXAMS RESULT’ issued to Ms. Bowah, she was congratulated on her achievement and at the same time encouraged her to be active with the Information Systems Audit and Control Association (ISACA) at a local and/or global level, and look forward to having her join more than 100,000 professionals worldwide who have earned the CISA credentials.

Ms. Bowah, according to the ‘NOTICE OF EXAMS RESULTS’, achieved a total scaled score of 457 on the exams.

CISA is a globally recognized certification for Information System Audit Control, Assurance and Security professionals.

Being CISA Certified showcases one’s experiences, skills and knowledge, and at the same time demonstrates his or her ability to assess vulnerabilities, report on compliance and institute controls within the enterprise.
